

HOW CAN I IMPLEMENT A COMMUTER BENEFIT PROGRAM FOR MY EMPLOYEES?

These programs are very easy to administer, and can often be done directly through or with your local transit agency (see links to Philadelphia transit providers on the homepage). They can also be offered to employees who commute in vanpool vehicles contracted through a third-party provider. If yours is a large company, and/or one with several sites, you may want to contract out to have this benefit offered to your employees. You may want to check first with the company(s) you already use to provide your other pre-tax benefits or contact one of the companies below.

This is a sample of companies that specialize in handling commuter or transit benefits for employers. NOTE that this list is not complete, nor inclusive, and you may find other benefit or payroll companies may offer these services, too. The City of Philadelphia does not recommend or endorse any company that may provide these programs to employers.

Edenred Commuter Benefits – www.commuterbenefits.com

Health Equity (WageWorks) – www.healthequity.com

BASIC – www.basiconline.com

TASC (Total Administrative Services Corp.) – www.tasconline.com

Jawnt – www.jawntpass.com

PAYFLEX – www.payflex.com

ADP – www.apps.adp.com